artnet Auctions Features Prominent Photographer
Patrick McMullan’s Personal Collection in an Exclusive Online Sale on June 20

New York — artnet is pleased to announce the highly anticipated online auction The A-List: Works from the Collection of Patrick McMullan. This exclusive sale will take place June 20–29, 2017 on artnet Auctions, and will feature more than 50 of the most compelling photographs, prints, and paintings from McMullan’s own private collection. As a renowned society photographer, McMullan collected through years of friendship and guidance from some of New York’s most legendary artists.

McMullan initially began photographing celebrities and friends of Andy Warhol in the 1980s. His striking art collection offers a snapshot of this storied period as seen through the eyes of this legendary artist, and includes prints and photographs by Warhol himself, as well as works by other influential painters like Donald Baechler, Hunt Slonem, Ross Bleckner, and Shepard Fairey, and photographic works by Marilyn Minter, James Welling, Mona Kuhn, James Nachtwey, and Roe Ethridge.

The diverse nature of the collection reflects the intersecting worlds of art, fashion, advertising, and celebrity photography. The artnet Auctions sale will also include contemporary works by well-known fashion and celebrity photographers such as David LaChapelle, Steven Klein, Bruce Weber, David Croland, Marco Glaviano, Harry Benson, David Bailey, Slim Aarons, and Arthur Elgort.

Highlights include a portfolio of 12 signed photographs shot by Andy Warhol (estimate: 100,000–150,000 USD); an original mixed media piece by Shepard Fairey sourced from a photo McMullan took in the 1980s of Keith Haring (estimate: 30,000–40,000 USD); Warhol’s Sitting Bull from his Cowboys and Indians series (estimate: 20,000–30,000 USD); a rare signed impression of Horace Bristol’s famous Blister Gunner (estimate: 10,000–15,000 USD); and Peter Beard’s indelible photographs of Kenya (estimate: 10,000–15,000 USD).
